Defining Customer Service

Customer service is defined as the ability of knowledgeable, capable, and enthusiastic employees to deliver products and services to their internal and external customers in manner that satisfies identified and unidentified needs and ultimately results in positive word-of-mouth publicity and return to business.

- The goal of customer service is to foster better customer relationships

- The 3 elements of customer service are speed, convenience, and friendliness.

- This means delivering fast resolutions, on the channels of your customers' choice, and seeing things from the customer's perspective.

Elements

Speed

Customer service

Convenience

Friendliness

– The most important qualities of customer service are the human elements.

– Customers want speed and convenience, but they also look for empathy and commitment to the issues they care about.

– 61% of customers say they will spend more to buy from a company that is empathetic and understanding.

– Businesses with the highest customer satisfaction scores interact with customers over messaging channels (WhatsApp and Facebook Messenger) because customers expect convenience.

– 75% of customers are willing to spend more with companies that give them a good customer experience.

Type of Customers

– 4 basic types

– External paying customers

– Ex. People who eats in restaurant

– External nonpaying

– Those who receive services, goods but don't directly pay for. Ex. Tourist get information, map

– Internal customers

– Same organization

– Regulated customers

– Government agent

Why Customer Services Is Important

Benefits of Good Customer Service:

1. Retain your customers
2. Encourage customer loyalty
3. Build a strong culture and reputation
4. Get referrals
5. Boost sales
6. Upsell products
7. Improve employee happiness
8. Remain competitive in the marketplace

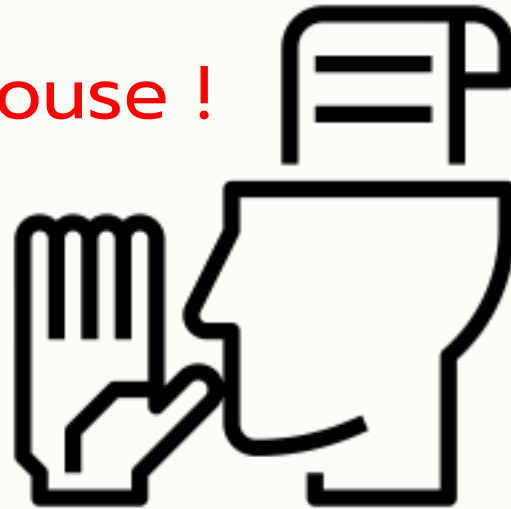

WHY IS CUSTOMER SERVICE SO IMPORTANT?

- It is important to treat the customer well as it will have longer term benefits for the organization:
- Good customer relations mean that the organization's reputation is enhanced , customers see the way they were treated by an employee and the organization as the same thing.

- All organizations benefit from good publicity
- from happy customers.

- A person with a bad experience is five times more likely to pass on a story of a bad experience than a happy experience.

- Word of mouth or mouse !

Retaining existing customers is less expensive than acquiring new ones. finding new customers can cost 6-7 times more than retaining your current customer.

- Cost of lost customer
- Ripple effect

- From the study 1 will tell 10-20 of unhappy experiences
- If one tells 11 person
- $1 + 11 = 12$
- 11 tell 5 = 55
- Total = 67 person
- If 67 person pay THB 50 a week how much does it cost?

Is customer always right?

- Make unreasonable requests

- Unable to meet expectations

- Loose with the truth

- Don't understand company

- However,

- Deserves to be treated as he/she is important

- Deserves to receive maximum effort of serving even his/her expectation impractical

How to Provide Excellent Customer Service

1 Be Friendly

2 Say Thank You

3 Listen

4 Train Your Staff

5 Ask for Feedback
